Air-IT - Expanding IT Specialists Transfer into New Premises at Nottingham Business Park

Nottingham, England, Monday 15th March 2010 - A growing company which specialises in cutting-edge information technology solutions and ongoing support for businesses has moved.

Air-IT opened in new premises on Monday 15th March at Nottingham Business Park, just over a mile from its previous base on Nottingham Road, Nuthall.

The company was formed in 2005 by Todd McQuilkin, who had been IT Director for successful medical equipment manufacturer Femcare, formerly of Nottingham.

Having started Air-IT five years ago Todd has seen it grow to a company employing a total of nine people.

The company, a Microsoft Gold Partner, offers a full range of tailored IT services to small and medium size enterprises including: networking solutions, installations, IT support packages, IP telephony and bespoke software development. It can effectively act as a company's in-house IT Department or complement existing resources.

It has a diverse range of clients across the East Midlands including Nottingham companies Skills Motor Coaches, DKM Labour Solutions, Hoofers Health Club, Churchill Steeplejacks and the Langar Group.

With an increased workload, Air-IT has been looking for some time for new premises and has invested £300,000 in buying and equipping the two-storey building at the prestigious business park which is home to the DVLA and Highways Agency among others.

The new premises have state-of-the-art IT infrastructure to showcase the company's products and services to both existing and potential clients, and are conveniently situated close to the M1 and Nottingham city centre.

As part of its greener IT initiative the company will be aiming for a 'paperless office' through its new document management software.

A high-tech training suite will enable Air-IT to provide a range of customised training programmes to complement the growing range of services on offer.

Air-IT has already taken on one new member of staff to cope with an increasing workload and it is likely that more jobs will be created as the company continues to grow.

Todd said: "We have made this investment to keep us at the forefront of information technology so we can offer clients the best possible advice and guidance in their business technology needs."
